

Dynamic Art & Text are web development and technical training consultants for eCommerce and eLearning.

Our services combine integrated expertise in all areas – from content development and system design to content management and workplace training. DAT has extensive backgrounds in both commercial and educational arenas.

DAT Services

- Print media design & production
- Internet (WWW) media
- Web based assets
- Animation (Flash)
- Interactive integrated database
- Web Management & maintenance
- Internet/intranet (network) design, installation and training
- System productivity & troubleshooting
- Systems and Network Admin – solutions and training
- Staff development and training
- Workplace training
- Application training
- Phone/email IT support

DAT Experience

- Over 20 years experience in Design and Communications
- Development of online learning and student admin systems since 1992
- Multi-platform expertise
- Workplace training and assessment

Who are our target audience?

All organizations – schools, businesses and individuals looking to:

- Broaden their impact in the local and global market
- Build online learning and student managements system
- Provide key resources with broad access to associates and staff anytime, anywhere
- Provide training and support to staff and associates - anytime, anywhere
- Update their expertise and knowledge base in media delivery and technology

How is our product/service differentiated from that of our competition?

Our services combine integrated expertise in 4 areas: analysis, design, implementation and training AT both the technical level (system design) and point of application (user interface/marketing). We understand and have worked in the education environment, we understand and have worked in the commercial corporate environment. DAT can help you plan and reach your objective on time and on budget.

DAT's approach is, develop the solution in consultation with the client, train the client, support the client.